Quality in harmony with nature

Terra
Group

In order to create products of highest quality, it is recommended to use the most durable materials but also the ones providing functionality of use. Those rules have been followed while selecting materials for TerraForm collection. A durable architectural concrete and a light but durable polyethylene made it possible to create products that meet the needs of each user. As a result, they combine features that are the most expected of modern equipment: strength, mobility but, above all, a unique look.

architectural concrete

Architectural concrete is characterized by high resistance, smooth surface and a visible structural layer. On its surface there are discolorations and streaks as a result of organic origin that add some sophisticated form to the material.

heavy and stable

polyethylen

It belongs to a group of thermoplastics. The material is characterized by high resistance to frost and low moisture absorption. Chemical and anti-corrosion properties contribute to product durability and a long life span.

light and easily movable

steel

Black steel powder coated with zinc primer paint and the selected color. The zinc primer additionally protects the material against corrosion, even in the event of damage to the top layer of paint.

heavy and stable

weathering steel

Steel (known also as COR-TEN) remarked by its high resistance. Under the influence of the weather the material form a protective layer that slows down the process of rusting. The use of weathering steel is popular in outdoor decorations and building constructions.

heavy and stable

Maintenance and cleaning

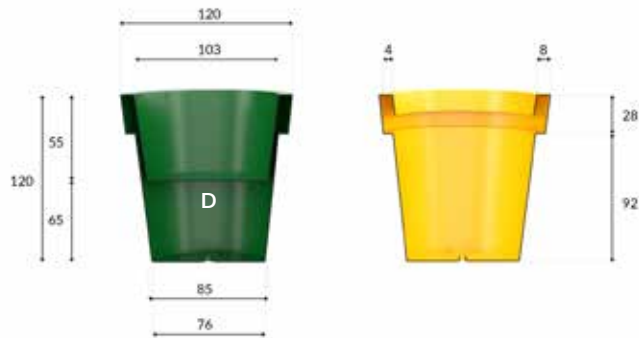

Clean flower pots with a damp cloth and neutral liquid soap diluted in water. Avoid using ethanol or any liquid containing, even in small amounts, acetone, trichloroethylene or ammonia (solvents in general). The lacquered version is suitable also for outdoor use, however it is more sensitive to scratches. Periodically clean it with a polish cleaner.
